WHAT WE BELIEVE

COMMUNITY: Natural and human communities of the Sierra are connected, and we're all in this together. We depend on pristine wildlands, well-stewarded working lands, clean air and water, and consideration for all residents.

SCIENCE: Sound science and ecological common sense must be the bedrock of all decisions in and for the Sierra.

LAND & WATER: Restoring and enhancing natural water systems throughout the Sierra will enhance local communities, working landscapes, protected wildlands, and the water and forests that drive much of California's economy.

Economy: Investments in vibrant, efficient communities and sustainable recreation will drive the economic engine of the Sierra.

VOICE: Every Sierra community, from the rolling foothills to the highest peaks, has a fundamental right to be heard in matters affecting our air, water, and land.
